DIRECTIONS FOR TRACING DESCENT.

Example.--RUTH COLEMAN. By reference to the Index it appears that she is the daughter of Oliver Allen Coleman, page 28.

There will be found her father's record. He is the son of William B. Coleman, grandson of George Coleman, and so on, and his pedigree is given back to the founder.

She learns that she is of the 10th generation from Thomas. By turning to her grandfather's record she learns that he had four sons, William B., Jr., George S., Charles S. and her father Oliver Allen, so that she has three uncles on her father's side.

Turning to great grandfather's page she finds that he had six children, four sons, Wm. B.,(her grandfather), Ferdinand, James and Silas, and two daughters, Almira and Anna, so she has three great uncles and two great aunts.

As her fathers brother George S. whose page is 28 has a daughter Gertrude, she is the possessor of one live cousin.

If her curiosity is aroused to learn what relation the Ingrahams are to her, she turns to the index of families connected by marriage, and finds that under the title of Ingraham, reference is made to page 19. Turning to that page she finds that her great grandfather George Coleman's daughter Anna, her great aunt, married Dr. T. M. Ingraham, and had ten children, and that she is a cousin several times removed, to them all.

If she is curious to learn the habitat of her ancestors she will find by consulting their respective pages, that her ancestors, up to the beginning of the Revolutionary War, were residents of Nantucket, and that about that time her great great great grandfather Elihu removed to Columbia County, N. Y., where her great grandfather was born. She will also learn that her grandfather was born in New York City, that her father was born at Flatlands, N. Y. and that she herself was born in Americus, Georgia.

If her curiosity is further aroused to learn what blood is allied with hers, she will find by referring to the index of families, that 18 Macys, 11 Bunkers, a like number of Coffins, 8 Folgers, and representative of the families of Barnard, Starbuck, Paddock, Husseys, and over a hundred others, have at different times in the last three hundred years, married into the family; and following up her father's record, learns that she is a conglomerate of Coleman, Macys, Bunker, Coffin, Folger, Barnard, Starbuck and others.

FIRST GENERATION.

Thomas Coleman, the ancestor of all those of like name, who appear of record in this book, was born in Marlborough, Wiltshire, England, in 1602, and at the age of 33 came to this country with his wife in the ship "James," from Southampton, arriving at Boston, June 3, 1635.

He settled first in Newbury, Mass., where he was admitted freeman in 1637, and where his first wife Susanna, died Nov. 17, 1650.

He afterwards removed to Hampton, where he married Mary, widow of Edward Johnson, July 11, 1651.

He was married for the third time to Margery, daughter of Philip Fowler and widow of Thos. Rowell, of Andover, who had been the widow of first Christopher Osgood, of Andover, and before 1663 removed to Nantucket, where he died in 1685, aged 83.

Sir Richard Saltonstall, Henry Sewell, Richard and Stephen Dummer with others from Wiltshire, England, had organized a company for the purpose of stock raising at a time when the prices for cattle, horses and sheep were at their highest, and Thomas Coleman had been employed by the projectors of the stock-raising company to provide food for the cattle and take care of them for a specified term of two years.

Thomas Coleman becoming dissatisfied, for some reason, declined to carry out his part of the contract, and the General Court finally ordered a division of the grain that had been imported, and instructed each owner to take care of his own cattle.

In "Ould Newbury," published by John J. Currier, in 1896, appears a plan of the lots laid out to the first settlers in 1635, in which Thomas Coleman's name appears as the owner of two lots.

Under date Feb. 27, 1638, appears the name of Jeremiah Coleman, signed to a document as one of the select men of Newburyport.

In a history of Newburyport and West Newbury, 1635 to 1845, by Joshua Coffin, published in 1845, appears the following: 1645, Dec. 22. "Thomas Coleman having taken a farme so that "he cannot attend to lay out lottes, John Pemberton was "appointed lott layer in his roome, and to joine with Richard "Knight and to have four pence per acre, and what they are not "paid for the towne is to see them satisfied for, the legal means "being first user to obtayne it."

Pa. 93. "Among the list of grantees of the proprietors, "Book of Records of the first settlers from 1636 to 1700, the "name of Thomas Coleman appears."

Pa. 391. "The family of Coleman in Nantucket, are also "descended from Thomas Coleman's older children, and those in "Newbury are descended from the youngest son, Tobias, the son "of Margery, the third wife of Thomas, and who was the widow "of Thos. Rowell, of Andover."

"He moved from Newbury to the North side of the Merri-"mack, called Hampton, and about 1659 to Nantucket, where he "died at the age of 82."

His name also appears among the grantees of a deed of the Island of Nantucket, made by the Wanackmanak Chief, Sachem, of the Island, dated January 29, 1671.

From "Early Settlers of Nantucket," Pa. 44, "Thomas Coleman must have removed to Nantucket prior to 1673, as on "October 30 of that year he is recorded as "drawn on jury""there. He is also named with Christopher Hussey and others, "in a list of those who settled Hampton, New Hampshire."

The Island of Nantucket, situated about 30 miles south of the main land, was discovered in 1602, by Bartolomew Gosnold, an Englishman, and in 1641 was deeded to Thomas Mayhew and his son, by James Forrett, Agent of the Earl of Stirling.

The right of the Mayhews was bought by a company of ten persons, who, finding it necessary to encourage immigration agreed at a meeting held at Salisbury, Mass., in 1659, for each owner to take a partner, or assistant, which should be left the choice of each individual to elect one.

Persons so chosen were  Thomas Coleman, "Vol. 12, N. E. Hist. and Gen. Register, by Drake."

Thomas Coleman was one of the partners and purchasers of 1/20th part of the Island of Nantucket, in 1659, being of those chosen by the first 10 purchasers as partners.

He had a house, lot and other lands set off to him at different times by the committee for laying out lands.

I find by the old book of records, that he was on a jury October 20, 1673.

He deeded his lands, houses, etc., to his son Tobias, to take effect after his death, dated November 3, 1673, at which time he was by his own declaration in the deed, a resident of Nantucket, as well as his son Tobias, who had a wife, Lydia, and a son Thomas.

4 From Book 1, Page 22, County Record, Deed A.

Be it known unto all men and by these presents declared, that I, Thomas Coleman, of Sherbourne, on the Island of Nantucket, for divers good and weighty considerations me thereunto moving, do hereby freely give, grant, ratify and confirm unto my son Tobias Coleman, ten akers of land, part of it being that on which his home standeth, and the remainder on the north side of his house above the highway.

This I give to him, at present to have and to hold, to him and his heirs forever. I also hereby give unto the said Tobias, my son, to enjoy the same after my decease, all my other land, both upland and meadow, upon the Island of Nantucket, with all the housing that is or maybe upon it at the day of my death.

Thomas and Tobias Coleman, both inhabitants in the town of Sherbourne, upon the Island of Nantucket, sell Saml. Bickford half a share of Land, Nov. 12, 1678, in the presence of

Peter Folger (sg.) Thomas Coleman
Wm. Worth (sg.) Tobias Coleman

The Society of Friends on Nantucket originated about or after the year 1704, when Thomas Story went there on a religious visit.

He remarks that the people were kind and hospitable, and that ny of them appeared to be seeking the right way in religious tters; that he found but two of the denomination of Friends or akers at that time, but that the people consisted of various ersuasions and appeared glad of his company and satisfied with is visit; that he had various opportunities with many of them to stablish a meeting under the auspices and direction of the Society f Friends since there appeared to him to be great number who be- ieved in their principles. His advice was attended to and a meeting stablished. From this beginning the Society increased from time to ime.

The number of members at one period was about twelve hundred, and nearly as many more attended their meetings who were not members, ut fully believed in their principles.

There is much obscurity resting on the early history of the Friends Society of Nantucket.

In the year 1708 ten persons came to the Island to set up a yearly meeting. By some authority the number is stated to have only been five, two of them public Friends, and others acting only in their individual capacity. The first ministers belonging to the Island were Mary Starbuck and her son Nathaniel, Nathaniel Gardner, John Swain and Priscilla Coleman.

Priscilla was the daughter of Nathaniel and Mary Starbuck, and wife of John Coleman, grandson of Thomas Coleman.

From "Early Settlers of Nantucket," Pa. 28-29.

Mary Coffin, seventh child of Tristram Coffin, Sr., was "born in Haverhill, February 20, 1645. She was married in "1662, at the age of seventeen, to Nathaniel, son of Edward and "Katherine (Reynolds) Starbuck. The first book of births, "marriages and deaths for the town of Sherburne (page 11), "says "Mary Starbuck departed this life ye 13 day of ye 9mo., "1717, in ye 74 year of her age, and was decently buried in "Friends burying grounds." Her husband, Nathaniel Starbuck, "Sr., died in 1719.

"She was a remarkable woman, anticipating by two centuries, "the advanced views of women of to-day. She took an active "part in town debates, usually opening her remarks with "my "husband and I, having considered the subject, think, etc."

"In 1701, at the age of fifty-six, she became interested in the "religious faith of the Friends, and held meetings at her house. "She was a minister in the Society, as were also several of her "children, her grandsons Elihu and Nathaniel Coleman, and "her grandaughter Priscilla Bunker.

"Elihu Coleman published one of the earliest protests against "slavery in New England."

The Nantucket Colemans appear to have joined the Society of Friends early in the 18th century, and that has been their faith up to the present time, with few exceptions.

The intermarriage for many years, of the descendants of Thomas

Coleman, with those of the other early settlers of Nantucket, has resulted in a large family connection, particularly with the families of Coffins, Macys and Bunker, running no doubt up into the thousands, if traced out to the last generation.

Wiltshire is one of the Southern Counties of England, and has always been an agricultural district.
The farmers, or as they were more frequently designated, planters, raised principally wheat and barley; those in the North of Wiltshire, in addition, paid much attention to raising cattle, and those in the south to sheep.

(Note.)-The Bunker family is of Huguenot origin. The name formerly was Bon Coeur. Upon the ancestral records of this family we find also John Tilley and John Howland, signers of the Mayflower Compact.

Eliza Bunker was of the 7th Generation, from the Mayflower, descended from John Howland, whose name appears among the passengers of that vessel.

In Governor Bradford's History appears the following concerning the stormy passage of the Mayflower: "In a mighty storme a lustie young man called John Howland, coming upon some occasion alone, ye grattings was with a reele of ye ship thrown into ye sea, but it so pleased God, yt he caught hould of ye tope saile halliard, which hunge overboard and same out at length; yet he held his houlde (though he was sundrie times under water) till he was hauled up by ye same rope to the brune of ye water and then with a boat hooke and other means, got into ye ship and his life saved, and though he was something ill with it, yet he lived many years after and became a profitable member both in church and commonwealth."

John Howland was elected three successive years, 1633-4-5, to be one of Gov. Bradford's assistants, and was constantly engaged in the mercantile enterprizes of the colonists.

Useful Life Ends

Royal Coleman First Came with Street Railways in Days of the Civil War

AFTER a long, useful and interesting life Pensioner Royal B. Coleman, a member of the Twenty-five Year Club and one of the United's oldest veterans, died at his home, Selma Avenue, Halethorpe, March 25th. He had been in comparatively good health and his death was unexpected.

Mr. Coleman's service with the railways began in Civil War days, but he left this work a couple of times, eventually returning and taking permanent employment in 1890. During his many years of service he functioned principally as motorman, but just prior to being placed on the Company's Honor Roll in June, 1915, acted as ticket agent. He is survived by a widow and six step-children. Interment was made in Loudon Park Cemetery.

Mr. Coleman took a keen interest in his ancestry, and could follow his family history back to the year 1602, when his great, great, great, great great grandfather, Thomas Coleman, was born in Marlborough, England. He immigrated to America and made his home in Boston in 1635, his age at death was 83 years.

John Coleman was born in 1645 and lived to the age of 70 years, his son John, born in 1667, reached the ripe old age of 95 years. John's son was Lethoe Coleman, who died at 80 years of age, and his son, Elkin Coleman, also lived to be 80. The latter's son, Paul Coleman, reached the age of 76, and Paul Coleman, Jr., the age of 75.

Royal B. Coleman was the son of Paul Coleman, Jr., and was born in Hudson City, N. Y., in 1847. He moved to Spottsylvania County, Va., in 1859, and followed the occupation of stock raising and farming until the summer of 1862, when he decided to leave the war-swept country and come to Baltimore.

Without baggage and with very little money in his pocket, he mounted his horse and started north. Cross-country travel was not altogether without its difficulties in those days when every highway and byway was patrolled by troops of either the northern or southern armies, and Mr. Coleman met with some lively adventures before he rode into Baltimore, just one month from the day that he started from his Virginia home.

Royal B. Coleman

Reaching this city, his sole possessions were the weather-worn suit of clothes he had on his back, his played-out horse, and a silver 10-cent piece. He entered the employ of the City Passenger Railway, but did not remain in its service long, enlisting in 1863 in Company D, 10th Maryland Volunteers. He participated in all the battles of the lively campaigns of that organization, including Monocacy, Harpers Ferry, and Charlestown.

At the end of the war he re-entered the service of the railway company, serving it in different capacities until 1889, when he resigned to take charge of the stables of the Sumwalt Ice Company. That was for only a short time and he re-entered the service of the Railways in 1890, and remained in different capacities until he retired with a pension for life in 1915.

Called by the Reaper Death

William H. DeBaufre, car cleaner at Columbia Avenue Carhouse, died at his home April 3rd. He had been unable to work for several weeks and upon previous occasions had been compelled to remain at home. Mr. DeBaufre was employed by the Company March, 1919, and was 60 years of age. He is survived by his widow and two daughters. Funeral services were held from his late residence, 3758 Culver Street, April 6th, Interment was made in Loudon Park Cemetery.

Summoned By Death

Henry J. Witthauer, badge 5159, was claimed suddenly by death April 20th. He had performed his usual duties April 19th and retired at night in apparently good health but was found dead in bed the following morning. Mr. Witthauer had been in service since May, 1919 and was 53 years of age. Deepest sympathy goes out to the bereaved widow who survives. Funeral services were held from his late residence, 1637 N. Fulton Avenue, April 23rd. Interment was made in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

This gentleman,* while living in Nantucket, confident that no law of the Colony justified slavery, received on board a vessel called the Friendship, at that time engaged in the whale fishery, and commanded by Elisha Folger, a young man by the name of "Boston," held as a slave by the heirs of Wm. Swain, and at the termination of the voyage, paid the young man his proportion of the proceeds. This circumstance took place between the years 1769 and 1770. In the meantime his reputed master, John Swain, brought an action against the Captain of the vessel, in the Court of Common Pleas at Nantucket, for the recovery of his slave; but the jury returned a verdict in favour of the defendant—and the slave, called Prince Boston, was manumitted by the magistrates. Swain appealed from this judgment to the Supreme Court at Boston—Mr. Rotch thought it advisable to retain John Adams

*William Rotch. The report was presented to the House January 16, 1822, as a matter referred to it from the General Court of 1821, is signed by Theodore Lyman Jr., and accepted by the House Jan. 19, 1822. In the report the Committee says that the case of Prince Boston led "to the first act of emancipation in this Commonwealth in consequence of the verdict of a jury."

as his counsel in the case, but Swain, discouraged by the feelings of the people and the circumstances of the country, never presented the appeal. After that period all the slaves on the Island of Nantucket obtained their freedom. It adds greatly to the satisfaction which this event inspires, to be assured that Prince Boston was a respectable industrious man, and conducted himself with such prudence and economy as to be possessed at an early period in his life of one hundred pounds sterling in the English funds."*

The Records of the Town afford additional evidence of the feelings of other members of the Society of Friends concerning this unjustifiable traffic in human beings. John and Mary Thurston of Newport, Rhode Island, died possessed of certain slaves, under the laws. Among the heirs to the estate were Hezekiah and Mary Starbuck of Nantucket. It would appear that the Thurstons must have died intestate, so that the estate would be divided according to law. In that case the Nantucket heirs would be entitled to whatever the law designated. They apprehended that slaves would be alotted to them. In that expectation they accepted what might be awarded them, but had publicly recorded by the Town Clerk manumission for the slaves. The Record reads: —

To all Christian People to whom this may Come; whereas there are now living certain Negroes, who have been Considered as the Property and belonging to the Estate of John and Mary Thirston, late of Newport in the County of Newport and State of Rhode Island, deceased; know ye that we Hezekiah & Mary Starbuck of Sherbourn in the County of Nantucket & Commonwealth of Massachusetts being Lawful Heirs to part of the Estate of the aforesaid John and Mary Thirston and therefore part of the sd Negroes may be liable by a Custom of the aforesaid State of Rhode Island to be by us or our Heirs subject to a State of Slavery, but believing it to be contrary to true Christianity and the Divine Injunction of the author thereof to hold any Person or Persons as our Property or continue them in a State whereby they may be Subjected to Slavery after our Decease. In Consideration whereof we do for ourselves, our Heirs, Executors and Administrators and assigns Manumit, Release and Discharge such part of each of the aforesaid Negroes from a State of Slavery as we or our Heirs would by Custom or Law hold, and hereby Declare them to be henceforth Amply and fully Free and we do for ourselves, our Heirs Executors Administrators and assigns Warrant Secure and Defend the said Negroes from all Claims of Right Title or Property in them or any of them of any Person whatsoever, So Claiming or pretending to Claim from by or under us. In Witness whereof we have hereunto set our Hands this Twenty Eight Day of the Sixth month Anno 1783.

COLEMAN

Thomas Coleman* was the original man of the name to be connected with affairs in Nantucket. Coffin's History of Newbury states that he came from Wittshire, England, in 1635. He first settled in Newbury. According to the Records of the Town of Newbury he was engaged by Richard Saltonstall and others in England and America in November, 1635, "for the keeping of horses and sheep in a general place for the space of three years." His work proved unsatisfactory, and each of the contractors was authorized to provide for his own. In the original purchase of the Island, Thomas Coleman was chosen by John Swain as his partner. At what time he removed to the Island is not clear but evidently it was very early. At a meeting of the Town, March 4, 1663, it was voted that "John Coleman shall have land Lay out on the North side of the lots of Robert Barnard for the use of the said John Coleman, his father Thomas Coleman having given half of his accommodation on the Island half the house lot to be Layd out in the place before mentioned for John Coleman, the aforesaid Thomas Coleman doth Lay down one half of his Lot already Layd out." In October, 1664, the Town chose Richard Swain and Thomas Coleman Surveyors of Highways. It may be assumed then that he was a resident as early at least as 1664. His first wife's name was Susanna ———— and she died November 17, 1650. He married (July 11, 1651) Mary, widow of Edmund Johnson. She died at Hampton, January 30, 1663. He married a third time—to Margery--(Ashbourne according to some authorities).† His children were—by Susanna: Benjamin, born May 1, 1640; Joseph, born December 2, 1642;John, born ———— 1644; Isaac, born February 20, 1647;‡ (probably by Mary) Joanna, (by the third wife) Tobias. Thomas died in 1685, aged 83 years.

Joseph married Ann Bunker, daughter of George, Senior; Isaac was drowned with John Barnard and his wife, June 6, 1669, while coming from the Vineyard in a canoe; John married (probably in 1666) Joanna Folger, daughter of Peter, Senior; Tobias married Lydia Osborne, daughter of Thomas's wife. He had one

*Patronymica Britannica says of the name "An ancient Anglo Saxon personal name, mentioned by Bode, Coleman and Colemannus in Domesday. Probably derived from the occupation of charcoal burning and synonymous with Collier."

†"Early Settlers of Nantucket," p. 61. This would seem to be an error as a letter from (Rev.) Thomas Osborne dated Nantucket 25th, 8 mo. 1682, written to George Little (Rev) and quoted by Joshua Coffin in the Historic Genealogical Register for Jan. 1862, in which Osborne, who is a Baptist minister, mentions his own marriage to Margery Coleman, widow of Thomas. Margery, whose maiden name is not given, married—first—Osgood; second, Thomas Rowell; third, Thomas Coleman; fourth, Thomas Osborne—certainly showing a marked preference for Thomas as a name to cling to.

‡Probably the lad who accompanied Tristram Coffin and Edward Starbuck on their first trip to the Island for observation. Savage makes Tobias the oldest son; Nantucket authorities do not agree with him.

*Reference to the Chapter on the subject of Slavery will show that Elihu Coleman while yet a young man was one of the earliest avocates of emancipation in America. The home which Elihu built and in which he lived is still standing, an evidence of the thoroughness of its construction and the excellence of the Nantucket timber of which it was built.
